Journey to the west

The theme of this paper is to discuss some feedback and influences about making a different decision. As the proverb says, only in a harmonious atmosphere can we hope the ideal scene in which people can enjoy their life to the utmost. Besides, people utilize the various methods that hope to gain the pursuit of spirituality, substance as well as some value conception filed, etc. Therefore, those part of elements prompt me able to reflect on a decision that is studying abroad, even though I have graduated from university for a year.

Sometimes, the circumstance that I mentioned before about the factors of studying abroad which I called it "journey to the west", and it's the same title of a Chinese novel which narrates the legendary master who traveled to the "Western Regions", on the journey, he experienced 81 kinds of tribulations before successfully obtained the real Buddhist sutra from India, and attempted to help people who are suffered difficulties. Therefore, I always adapt and accept the difficult situations that are unexpected in USA. The interesting thing is, people can facility become a poet or a philosopher when they feel solitary or alone that's the first imperial deeply thought once I came to America for few days. In order to conquer these issues that include kinds of suffering, homesick, solitary, pressure, etc, which demand me incrementally and effectively adjusting the condition and become more positive, independent and concentrate on the learning. For instance, the baby of birds will not quite realize that it can't survive unless it learns how to fly, that is, the birds will died if they becomes too dependent on their parent. In other words, the effectivity via to attain "the real Buddhist sutra" from USA that is overcome the kinds of adversity. Those issues I suffered which prompt me become stronger, outstanding and mature in my future.

It is necessary to clarify the phenomenon as I observe about various cultures, such as an ethnic group or nation during the period of learning and living in America. Honestly, language has magic power which assists people understand culture and religion in other countries through communicate. In this sense, the significant part which is people should pay attention to the realization of peaceful coexistence and mutual respect between different cultures. On the other hand, the remarkable perspective from me that is when people come from their countries, and try to discuss some perspectives about other countries, which may insert some bias or confusions, basically, I usually do not give more explanation when people ask some circumstances about my country cause I acknowledge and understand the situation which I emphasize we are stand in the various position, and each one has rights to judge or give some opinions if some parts they are curious or disagree. Even if I explained it, still can not change other people's thought cause the growth environment determine some invariable factors. Obviously, the concept of culture covers some differences, such as technology, architecture, art and different teaching methods, strategies, cuisine, etc. Meanwhile, no matter either one country, state, even in the family, company or group, which still exists this issue that people only want to state whatever perspective they want and do not care about others. Nevertheless, there's a saying that goes people should stand in other people's position to think one problem and most puzzles would become clearly, or analyze the differences and make a combination to build a complete value conception of philosophy, which I called it "the transpositional consideration".

Perhaps the most meaningful and pleasant thing to me that is self-driving for a long journey with my husband on the east coast from North Carolina to New York. Taking a lot of photos with the fine scenery, print out, and collect for memorize. Moreover, this is another opportunity for me to understand other countries culture through the daily communication and lifestyle out of the campus. Many thorny issues I suffered which the most impressive thing is that serious car accident in the USA, a lot of people give me help and care. In all, the biggest thought for me during the journey to the western that is the more things I know, the more rational thought I gonna have.
